

About Us:

Intelvio, LLC d/b/a Phlebotomy Training Specialists (PTS) was founded in 1993 by Brian Treu. Recognizing a gap in the phlebotomy field, Mr. Treu identified a need for more comprehensive, hands-on training that went beyond theoretical knowledge. The core idea was that practical skill development is essential for success in phlebotomy.

From its inception, PTS developed a training program combining didactic (classroom) instruction with intensive hands-on practical training. The curriculum focuses on equipping students with real-world skills and confidence, employing instructors with extensive professional experience as phlebotomists. The goal is to make graduates marketable and effective from their first day in the workforce.

Since its first class in 1993, PTS has experienced significant growth. It is now one of the largest stand-alone phlebotomy training providers in the United States.

- Graduates: The company has trained a substantial number of students, with over 100,000 graduates over its history.
- Locations: PTS operates numerous training centers across many U.S. states with its headquarters in Utah.
